Russia's Claims Elicit New Word Of U. S. Bomb Progress

H-Bomb Was In Production A Year Ago

By Frank Carey
AP Science Reporter
Washington (AP)—Russia's claim that it has the H-bomb has brought forth what appear to be the most definite statements yet of U. S. accomplishments in that field.

Russia's Premier Georgi Malenkov made the claim Saturday that "the United States no longer has the monopoly of the hydrogen bomb," and that the Soviet Union has mastered production of the weapon.

This nation never has claimed it has solved the problems of making an H-bomb nor even disclosed how close it might be to that accomplishment, although there has been strong speculation the United States actually detonated a hydrogen device during A-bomb tests at Eniwetok last October.

What seem to be confirmation of that came in statements by two members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee who commented on Malenkov's announcement.

Rep. Hineshaw (D-Calif.) said "we mastered production of the hydrogen bomb and all other aspects of it a year ago, so it is not surprising that the Russians claim to have developed it now."

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), saying he viewed the Russian claims with suspicion, added: "Why, we didn't know we had an H-bomb ourselves until last October when we exploded a hydrogen device."

The Atomic Energy Commission AEC, has spoken only of tests "contributing to thermo-nuclear weapons research," and the nearest previous approach to an official claim that the United States has mastered the bomb came from former President Truman in his State of the Union message to Congress last January.

"Recently, in the thermo-nuclear test at Eniwetok," Truman said "We have entered another stage in the world shaking development of atomic energy. From now on, man moves into a new era of destructive power, capable of creating explosions of a new order of magnitude dwarfing the mushroom clouds of Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

Truman's words seemed to imply H-bomb perfection, but they did not flatly say so.

Most congressional comment ranged from frank skepticism of the Russian announcement to a calm realization it at least could be true.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee, said yesterday "there is some speculation whether it is true or not. We cannot gamble that it is not true, but must proceed on the theory that it is."

West Europe Skeptical Of Red Bomb Claim
London (AP)—Western Europe reacted skeptically to Soviet Premier Malenkov's claim that Russia has the hydrogen bomb. But there was the added feeling that the West must prepare for the day when the bomb becomes a weapon in the Russian arsenal.

Prof. Harrie S. W. Massey, vice-president of the British Atomic Scientists Association, said "The Russians may have established the principle of making the hydrogen bomb, but the actual manufacture of the weapon is a much bigger job. It should take longer for them to make than what time they seem to have already devoted to it."

Lord Beaverbrook's conservative Sunday Express said the Russian announcement heightened the urgency with which all Western nations should seek a top level East-West conference.

"What is certain is that if Russia's hydrogen bomb is more propaganda than reality at this moment it will be reality soon enough," the editorial said.

Freedom Village, (AP)—Frank Noel, Associated Press photographer, returned yesterday after 52 months in North Korean prison camps and said the Communists "used food and medicine for a weapon."

Noel, 54, disclosed he had made three attempts to escape. After the third one failed he was held in solitary confinement for 42 days.

Reed Will Fight Effort To Cancel Corporation Income Tax Cut Next Year

Washington (AP)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) yesterday indicated strong opposition to an expected administration drive to cancel a two billion dollar cut in corporation income taxes next year.

Reed, 78-year-old chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he regards the present law as a firm promise to reduce the tax.

Under that law, corporation rates drop automatically from 52 per cent to 47 per cent next April 1—an estimated annual revenue reduction of two billion.

The issue could develop into a repeat performance of the spectacular battle in the past session of Congress, when the administration pushed across a 6-month extension of the excess profits tax over Reed's last-ditch opposition.

President Eisenhower already has asked for cancellation of the scheduled corporate tax reduction, but his congressional leaders were happy to get the profits tax extended and did not press the point on regular corporate taxes in the session just concluded.

With a prospective 5½ billion dollar deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, the administration will be under more pressure than ever to keep revenue high enough to balance the budget in the succeeding fiscal year.

And yet, expiration of the excess profits tax on Jan. 1 and a 10 per cent individual income tax cut on the same date alone will cut some four billion dollars from federal income next year.

"I'm getting sick of double crossing the people and going back on promises for political reasons," Reed said in an interview.

"We promised the corporate tax reduction when we wrote the law several years ago. Business is counting on it. We'll never be able to balance the budget until we take the shackles off business."

He added that high taxes already are hindering business firms, especially young and small firms, from expanding and providing more jobs—and more revenue.

His annual loss of revenue is estimated at around three billion dollars.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, deputy Democratic leader in the House, said the government will lose additional billions if temporary increases on corporation and excise taxes are allowed to expire April 30.

He said, in order to make up this revenue loss and a possible five billion dollar budget deficit, the administration will "have to cut national defense."

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, deputy Democratic leader in the House, said the government will lose additional billions if temporary increases on corporation and excise taxes are allowed to expire April 30.

Defense Cuts Needed For Budget Balance

Washington (AP)—Influential congressmen said yesterday President Eisenhower must cut his defense costs again next year if he wants to keep his sights on a balanced budget.

Both Republicans and Democrats agreed in separate interviews that promised and probable tax cuts in 1954 will automatically require further reductions in budget requests.

Major cuts can come only from military and foreign aid spending, they added.

But the congressmen split sharply along party lines on the question of whether the cuts could be made without endangering national defense.

Prolonged and heavy debate on this issue is expected when Congress reconvenes in January for a dramatic election-year session.

The administration has pledged to end the recently extended excess profits tax and a temporary 10 per cent boost in personal income taxes on Jan. 1.

This annual loss of revenue is estimated at around three billion dollars.

A WESTFIELD, N. J. woman was injured seriously when, police said, this car crossed the divider on Route 611 and struck a north-bound vehicle at Strouton. She was one of four persons admitted to the hospital for treatment from the accident. Woman was pulled from blood-covered front seat.

Six Hurt, One Seriously When Car Jumps Divider To Collide With Auto

Strouton — Six people were injured, one seriously, in a two-car collision on Route 611 at 7 p. m. yesterday.

Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Helen Brophy, 25, Westfield, N. J., passenger in a car driven south by her husband, Joseph, 21. Other passengers were Brophy's sister, Miss Mary Brophy, and his children, Joseph Jr., 3, and Kenneth, 2.

In the other vehicle, traveling north, were Harris S. Jacobs, 23, at the wheel; his mother, Mrs. Libbie Jacobs, 50; and sister, Florence Jacobs, 18, all of Scranton.

Mount Pocono State police said the Brophy car evidently crossed the concrete divider and struck the Jacobs car. The Jacobs car in turn crossed the divider, went through a gap in the guard rail and plunged down an embankment.

It crashed squarely into a stout tree which caved in the front end, demolishing the car.

The Brophy car came to rest athwart the divider.

An ambulance took five of the injured to the hospital. All were admitted — Mrs. Jacobs and her daughter, and Mrs. Brophy and her husband, and son Kenneth.

Mrs. Brophy was reported in "poor" condition. Mrs. Jacobs was listed in "fair" condition.

Both cars were towed away. Damage to the wrecked Jacobs vehicle was estimated at $1,500.

The plane was en route from Udine, Northern Italy, to Wheelus Airbase, Tripoli, in North Africa.

Col. E. R. Cassidy at the air attaché office at the American Embassy said an Italian airline reported seeing wreckage on the Tyrrhenian Sea 40 miles north of Palermo, Sicily.

He said there had been no confirmation of this report and the Air Force announcement that it had heard the wreck occurred off North Africa placed it about 400 miles away from there.

Italian air-sea rescue units which went to the Tyrrhenian Sea location said they found nothing.

The Red threats and force cut the influx severely. But thousands, including women and aged, still got through on bicycles or afoot.

They brought new reports of reprisal and terror and of seething discontent and unrest throughout the Russian zone.

The hardest blow to the East German hungry came when the Communists closed a big blockade loophole by outlawing the sale of tickets to Berlin from the terminals of the Berlin surface line railways. This was imposed Saturday, after a week-old prohibition against selling rail tickets to Berlin from distant points in the Berlin vicinity and then transfer to the interurban lines.

East zoners who reached Berlin yesterday said the rail blockade was now almost "airtight. Large forces of Communist "people's police" manned the Russian zone terminals of the Berlin interurban lines.

125 More Americans Are Released

Panmunjom (AP)—The largest group of Allied captives to come back from Communist prison camps since the armistice was signed—189, including 125 Americans—was crossing into freedom here today.

The sixth day of the exchange began five minutes ahead of schedule at 8:55 a. m. (6:55 p. m., EST, Sunday), with the Communists announcing unexpectedly that they were adding 100 prisoners to the 389 originally promised for today.

The additional POWs—including 25 more Americans—brought to 2,174, including 550 Americans, the United Nations personnel liberated the first six days of the post-armistice exchanges.

Today's revised figure was 125 Americans, 50 British, 25 Turks and 289 South Koreans.

Most of the Americans in the first of four groups freed today were Negroes. Most of them jumped nimbly from the tailgate of the Communist trucks and walked briskly toward the U. N. Command processing tent, where they were given immediate checkups.

The South Koreans were weak, emaciated. Many were burdened with crude, dirty casts.

At Inchon, West Korean port for Seoul, the first contingent of American prisoners was being put aboard ship.

There was no immediate announcement as to when the ship would sail or where it would dock in the United States. Previously it was said ships bringing repatriates home would dock at San Francisco or Seattle. The trip takes about two weeks.

Presumably the men boarding the vessel at Inchon are all in good health. The sick and wounded have been put aboard the Navy hospital ship Haven, taken to hospitals in South Korea, or flown to Tokyo hospitals. The time of their departure for home will depend upon their condition. Many of them probably will return to the United States by plane.

Americans delivered at Panmunjom by the Reds have been in better physical condition the past few days than those in the first exchange returned.

But the Republic of Korea repatriates listed as sick and wounded caused even battle-hardened Marines, who carried the litters, to shudder.

The Reds have said they held 12,763 Allied prisoners, including 4,313 Americans. The Allies through Saturday had sent back about 21,500 of the 74,000 North Korean and Chinese war prisoners to be repatriated.

South Korean Defense Minister Sohn Won Il charged the Reds with forcibly holding thousands of ROK war prisoners for "malicious and inhuman purposes."

Sohn said in an interview the Communists are returning sick and wounded men who should have been repatriated last April in the exchange of disabled war prisoners.

He said the Reds Friday forcibly removed 200 South Koreans at Kaesong, the North Korea trade base, for further detention and punishment because the ROKs expressed support of their own country.

Many ROK litter patients were obviously victims of malnutrition, their emaciated bodies barely making a bulge in the blanket covering them.

Others were encased in clumsy, crude casts. Some showed signs of frostbite. Many were so weak they lay in the stretchers like dead men.

On the Red side, the Peiping Communist Radio heard in Tokyo claimed that the U. N. Saturday delivered one dead North Korean soldier. The U. N. previously had announced that 1,798 healthy North Koreans and one sick man was returned to the Reds that day.

As the sick ROKs were being unloaded and rushed to helicopters for transfer to hospitals, the Red repatriates being sent back home by the U. N. were passing on the road nearby.

Among the 2,873 Reds returned, 473 North Korean and Chinese women caused the most trouble. The women were nurses, soldiers' wives, the camp followers picked up in Allied drives. Some of 23 children with them had been taken with their mothers. Others were born in prison camp.

State Men Held By Reds Are Freed

By The Associated Press

The growing list of repatriated prisoners of war with relatives in Pennsylvania continued to grow last night as the latest exchange of personnel took place at Freedom Village in Korea.

Two and a half years of doubt was dispelled for a Philadelphia mother when her son literally returned from the dead as a repatriated prisoner of war.

PFC Henry C. Corner was reported killed in action in Korea November, 1950. In 1951, a Red broadcast monitored by the Associated Press in San Francisco, listed Corner as prisoner. His mother, Mrs. Henry Francis Corner, didn't know what to believe.

But yesterday (Saturday) PFC Corner arrived in Freedom Village as one of the prisoners returned under the armistice agreement.

The first Pennsylvanian was Cpl. Stephen Hopkins. Then came Cpl. Thomas F. McDonough, both of Philadelphia.

These were followed by Cpl. Carl J. Raup of Franklin, and Cpl. Dorland F. Guinter of Montoursville. Then came Cpl. Louis Omerzo of Fridens and Cpl. Clarence Peterson of Ebensburg.

Mrs. Isabella A. Coleman, mother of Hopkins, who has been a prisoner since Feb. 6, 1951, said simply: "Thank God he's free. It's a feeling you just can't express."

Cars Crash During Rain, One Is Hurt

Mrs. Mary Pesco, Canandaigua, N. Y., was hospitalized last night after an accident at Eighth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, in which she struck her head on the windshield of the car driven by her son, Peter, 20, same address.

Stroudsburg police said John P. DeCotes, 34, Binghamton, N. Y., halted his car in a line of traffic during the heavy rain. It was struck in the rear by the Pesco auto. Damages totaled $150, police said.

Ambulance Picks Up Eight In Hour

Ambulance drivers from the General Hospital worked overtime between 6:30 and 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

In the single hour, they picked up a total of eight persons from three separate accidents—in Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg, Strouton for treatment at the hospital.

WHITTEMORE AND LOWE, DUO-PIANISTS, share top billing with Lois Marshall, a soprano, Friday, Aug. 21 at 8:30 p.m. in a concert at Buck Hill Auditorium. For benefit of the Buck Hill Community Services Fund, the concert is already on the way to sell-out proportions, according to fund directors. Admission to the program is by contribution to the Services Fund which, in turn, donates to the Barrett Township and Monroe County Charities.

Lois Marshall, Whittemore And Lowe Are Starred In Buck Hill Falls Concert Benefiting Community Fund

Judging by advance reservations for tickets for the joint concert of Lois Marshall, soprano, and Whittemore and Lowe, duo-pianists, being held in the Buck Hill Auditorium Friday, August 21, 8:30 p.m., for the benefit of the Buck Hill Community Services Fund, there will be a complete sell-out and, therefore, those planning to attend are asked to mail their request for tickets as promptly as possible.

Admission to the concert is by contribution to the Fund, the proceeds of which are donated entirely to the Barrett Township and Monroe County Charities, the American Friends Service Committee and the National YMCA.

Being featured are the celebrated duo-pianists, Whittemore and Lowe, who are appearing at this popular Pocono resort for the second time. Pace-setting programs, best-selling recordings, new-making personalities—all contribute to the precedent-breaking tour which the two pianists play every season.

During 1951-52, they were the only duo-piano team engaged by the New York Philharmonic Symphony, their second Carnegie Hall appearance with the orchestra. They played the Vaughan Williams Concerto for two pianos, a work which they introduced to America with the Cincinnati Symphony and later played with the Boston Symphony.

the American Friends Service Committee and the National Young Men's Christian Association. Whittemore and Lowe will be making their second appearance at the Buck Hill resort. They make up America's best-known and most accomplished piano team. Mail orders for reservations should be addressed to "Box Office Manager, Buck Hill Falls, Pa."

The versatile artists, finding that the standard repertoire for their chosen field of two pianos music was rather limited, have added to the repertoire for this combination almost 200 transcriptions, and tirelessly select and arrange more and more works which they feel lend themselves to the sonorities of two pianos.

With the same fidelity and integrity which they bring to their study of the classics, Whittemore and Lowe have made some musical and delightful transcriptions of music in a lighter vein, from the waltzes of Johann Strauss to the contemporary masters of the dance idiom, Porter, Rodgers, Kern and others.

On records, too both the classic repertoire and the modern "popular" tunes enjoy an enthusiastic welcome among record collectors. But whether they are playing an apparently simple Bach transcriptions, or intoxicating Stravinsky work, or the long hours of practice together, of musical collaboration and sympathy, are the ingredients of success for Whittemore and Lowe.

Mail orders for ticket reservations for the Benefit Concert at Buck Hill Auditorium, August 21, at 8:30 p.m., are given prompt attention and consideration if addressed to: Box Office Manager, Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

'United Nations POW's In Korea,' Sent Here Is Preposterous Communist Propaganda Deal

By Leonard Randolph
(The magazine described here is a part of a world-wide propaganda campaign carried on by the Communists. It is received in all nations where forces fought in Korea. Recently copies of the publication have been sent to this area.)

There was nothing but "sweetness and light" in North Korean POW camps, according to a magazine printed and distributed by Red propagandists.

Its name is "United Nations P.O.W.'s in Korea." It is printed by the Chinese People's Committee for World Peace in Peking, China.

Done up in a lively, photo-filled format roughly the size of American news magazines, the publication dishes up a brand of reporting somewhat equivalent to a Lucille Parsons' exclusive—chippy, chatty and chiefly bunk.

Most of the magazine's publication cost goes for pictures. There's a full-color job on the back cover; a picture of a young man with a Mona Lisa smile on the front; photo coverage of everything from baths to basketball on the interior.

Like nearly all propaganda, the magazine takes its principal point of attack from this angle:

All that you have heard and read is really untrue. This is the truth. This is the way it really is at camps along the Yalu.

Employing a copy writer who reads like a glib fugitive from "Ivesia Faces Life" the magazine starts the ball rolling with a half-page photo of captives marching in a thin, quarrelsome, straggling line through the mud and snow of Korea.

Says the prose beneath this photograph: "These men have just been captured. They are on their way to the prisoner-of-war camps. What lies ahead for them?"

"It is true, as they've heard, that prisoners of war in Korea and Chinese hands are treated humanely and well."

"They don't know. They're not here. At this particular point, a justifiably skeptical reader—including most former POW's—would switch to another station."

But "United Nations P.O.W.'s in Korea" is not a magazine slanted toward the specially-trained audience. It makes its pitch for the star-worn semi-widow whose husband long since has disappeared behind enemy lines. Its sales appeal—although it's completely "free"—is the chance it gives a mother to see the face of her son again, a son she may have thought was dead, inhumanely treated or ill.

On page number two, the pitch really begins. The scene has been set. Now the announcer has some high-class soap to sell.

As any self-respecting commercial advertiser will tell you, the best way to sell a product is to let your customer "compare."

"After all," says the magazine, "these men all know about Kojima Island, Cheju and other camps where Korean and Chinese prisoners in U. S. hands are continually clubbed and shot down in cruel disregard of the Geneva Convention relating to P.O.W.'s."

"Will the Chinese and Koreans pay back in kind?"

In 90 remaining pages the magazine attempts to answer its own question with a resounding "Nyet."

First of all, the publication says, all members of the Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers are ordered to observe four basic tenets in their treatment of prisoners:

Each prisoner must have security of life, retention of all personal belongings, freedom from maltreatment or abuse and medical care if wounded or ill.

This, says "POW's in Korea," is known as the "lenient policy," a policy which grows from the individual Red's knowledge that the "only reason the prisoners are in Korea, fighting an aggressive war, is that they have been cruelly deceived."

And by whom were they "deceived?" Elementary, my dear Watson—"a handful of U. S. billionaires," as the magazine puts it.

From here on out the magazine settles down to its job of "selling" its public on the advantages to be found in becoming a prisoner of the "People's Army."

Among other startling "revelations" contained in its pages are these:

Prison clothing issued to captives is "warmer than the U. S. or British issue."

"Church services are held for both Catholics and Protestants in the camps each Sunday."

Regular inoculations against contagious diseases were given. Prisoners received regular fluoroscopic and X-ray examinations to detect TB. It says in fine print, down at the bottom of the page:

Most of the magazine is "written" by prisoners, told in their own words, the publication says.

Turning the pages, a reader spots names of corporals, privates and noncoms from Oklahoma, W. Virginia, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and other points east, west, up and down.

Step by step the magazine seeks to break down foregone conclusions on POW camp life. First it tackles the idea that such camps are surrounded by filth with a section called "Keep it Clean."

Bearing no kinship to various censorship codes which often cut television comes off the air, the section shows prisoners doing a variety of jobs dedicated to sanitation—haireuts, washing (faces and or underwear) and polishing.

Other titles, other sections: "A Healthy Mind in a Healthy Body," "Mail From Home," "Greeting Cards Help Boost Morale," "Santa Claus and All."

On one page the magazine features "Before and After" portraits of two men. The first is Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, former 24th Infantry commander who was captured during early stages of the war.

One shows Dean looking pale, wan and half-starved. The other shows him smiling, ruddy and obviously healthy. The first, says the magazine, was taken just after "Dean arrived in the camp." The second was snapped after he'd been there some time and "had gained 50 pounds," according to the magazine.

Another series of two photos shows the face of "Pfc. Charles B. Lex," of 319 W. Priscilla St., Albion, Pa. Lex also "gained weight," the caption says.

Throughout the book emphasis lies with individuals. Names are listed in an obvious attempt to "sell the product" to relatives.

The photographic gimmick is an effective one, there can be no doubt of that. Although most of the pictures are clumsy, unconvincing and obviously "posed," the faces are still there and the names to identify them.

There is a bulk of evidence in the magazine to indicate that the Communists—like their Fascist counterparts during World War Two—don't know when to leave well enough alone.

Not content with showing the photos they've taken, they insist that propaganda must be overtly propaganda. If they're going to paint a picture of POW camp life in this magazine, someone in the upper echelons seems to have said, then let it be all white.

This leads to disastrous results, especially in some sections of the magazine. Under "Culture and Recreation," for example, we have Cpl. Richard Morrison, USA saying that "we can't forget the great Marxist classics—Capital, Frederick Engels"

Origin of the Family and the outstanding works of Lenin and Stalin."

Cozy and calm as a cigaret endorsement by a famous movie star. And just about as convincing.

In reality, however, "Peace" is the pitch of the magazine. Behind each phrase lies the constant implication that the Communists and they alone—want peace. To bolster this argument, the magazine pulls in letters from former prisoners, from mothers, grandmothers, an unidentified chaplain, an English "worker for peace."

Few readers would take "POW's in Korea" seriously. Its attempt is primarily toward influence of psychologically vulnerable human beings whose desire for peace on earth may be either wholly hatred of war, fear and destruction or a normal desire to see their sons, fathers or brothers alive again.

What effect does such a magazine hold for its publishers? No one can answer that question with a degree of accuracy. It is possible only to point out that, through its style of writing and presentation, the publication borders a bit too close on the preposterously sentimental to be convincing.

Its American soldiers do not write like American soldiers talk. Its British soldiers do not sound like the real thing.

Propaganda is a two-way street. Somewhere in between the two opposite poles of propaganda lies a stranger named TRUTH.

He wasn't sitting at the typewriter from whence came the deathless prose of "United Nations POW's in Korea."

Richard Arlen Starred In Playhouse Presentation Of 'Mister Roberts' Show

The warm, full-blooded, hilarious war-time drama "Mister Roberts" opens tonight at Pocono Playhouse.

Richard Arlen, well-known Hollywood actor, will take the title role in the comedy-melodrama which plays a week's run with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Mister Roberts" was adapted by Thomas Hoggan and Joshua Logan from Hoggan's best-selling novel of the same name. It ran for 145 weeks on Broadway, then toured successfully throughout the nation.

The play tells the story of the men aboard a navy cargo ship during World War Two.

Arlen made his motion picture debut in Howard Hawks' production of "Wing", a pioneering aviation film. He is said to hold a record for having starred in more movies than any other actor, among which are "The Virginian," "Light of Western Skies" and "Call of the Yukon."

"Mister Roberts" has only one female role—that of a nurse. The remaining 19 roles are played by men, some of whom were members of the original Broadway cast.

Dick Van Patten will be seen in his original role of Ensign Pulver. Joe Difuria, Robert Baines, Robert Carson, Raymond Bailey and Metro Welles will also be giving repeat performances.

John O'Shaughnessy is the director. Several Playhouse "regulars" are also cast in important parts.

'Oliver Oliver' Is Featured At Haubert

Newfoundland—Paul Osborn's comedy "Oliver Oliver" opens a two-performance run tonight at 8:30 at Haubert Playhouse here.

The play is the fifth production of this season for The Manhattan Stock Co. which alternates performances between the Milford Theater and the Haubert Playhouse.

Sets are on sale daily at Staph's Store until 7 p.m. Tickets may also be purchased at the theater box office until curtain time.

Frank Hilton Is Slated For Appointment

Harrisburg, (AP)—Frank C. Hilton, of Reading, was reported yesterday to be in line for appointment of Secretary of Welfare in Gov. John S. Fine's cabinet.

Hilton, former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, if named by Fine on his return from the Seattle governors' conference, would succeed William C. Brown, of Philadelphia. Fine is expected back at the capitol the week of August 17.

The governor fired Brown from the $15,000 cabinet post early this summer in a disagreement over administrative policy in admissions to the state's mental hospitals.

Another report circulated at the capitol during the governor's absence linked State Sen. Fred P. Ware (R-Somerset) for possible appointment to a $10,000 post as executive assistant to the governor.

Recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. George Duke were Mrs. Wilma Mumbauer and family, of Stroudsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Newell and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Newell of Saylorsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hopple, of Saylorsburg, were Wednesday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lessig, of Poplar Valley and Edward Setzer also were recent callers.

Beverly Newell spent Friday calling on Cathleen Metzgar.

Recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Metzgar were Mr. and Mrs. James Hawk, of Bartonsville, Pvt. Donald S. Miller, of Ft. Bragg, N. C., Paul Mackes and son, of Saylorsburg, Mrs. Fred Jennings and Patricia Possinger.

Mrs. Williams, of Lehigh, is spending some time at the home of William Lesh.

Glen Falls Man Dies From Injuries Suffered In Friday Crash

Steel Erector Was Headed For Vacation

Everitt C. Cleveland, 53, Glen Falls, N.Y., died at 6 p.m. yesterday just 45 hours after he was injured fatally in a two-car crash at Barstonsville.

He was one of three men in a car driven by Walter J. Goodleaf, 28, Caughnawaga, Quebec, Canada, who was also injured seriously.

A charge of assault and battery with a motor vehicle was lodged against Goodleaf after the accident. He was ordered held in jail in default of $1,000 bond.

The Canadian was committed to the county jail, but Saturday morning complained of pain and stiffness. He was transferred to the General Hospital, where examination showed him suffering from a fractured bone at the base of the spine, and a possible hip fracture. He was admitted for treatment.

After the death of Cleveland at 6 p.m. yesterday, a coroner's inquest was ordered by Dr. William E. Andrews. The coroner's verdict was that Cleveland died as a result of internal injuries suffered in the crash.

Pfc. Alex G. Kearns, who investigated the crash, said he would consult with district attorney Elmer D. Christine over details of the crash after Christine returned from an out-of-state visit.

The fatality was the first to occur this year in the territory patrolled by Stroudsburg State police. Cleveland was in the back seat, according to a family member, as he, Goodleaf and Walter Paul, 25, Quebec, headed north for a week-end vacation.

Pfc. Kearns said the north-bound car apparently failed to stop for the stop sign on Route 12, and pulled out into the line of traffic on Route 611.

The car was struck broadside by the auto of Samuel Feuerman, of Moscow, RD3, and was thrown from the middle lane of the highway to an embankment off the road.

Paul was listed as in "serious condition" at the hospital. Mrs. Feuerman was admitted as one of the injured passengers from her husband's car, but she was believed not hurt badly.

Cleveland was a steel erector by trade. He was a foreman at the American Bridge Co., and had been working at the Fairless Steel Plant at Morrisville.

Surviving are his wife, Sarah; two sons, William and Robert, at home; a brother, Freeman Cleveland, Norristown, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Nancy Place, Troy, N.Y.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Fort Ann, N.Y., with burial at nearby Kingsbury.

Local arrangements were handled by Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg.

DRUMMING UP A CADENCE before formation, these members of George N. ## 1,000 Attend Fair Held For Pocono Lake School

Pocono Pines — An estimated 1,000 persons crowded across Tobyhanna Township School grounds Saturday to attend the closing day of this community's second annual "Fair on the Mountaintop."

Rain called a premature halt night. A combination round and square dance which was held in the streets with appropriate lighting and decorations, was rained out before its scheduled closing time. More than five hundred persons attended the dance according to fair officials.

Throughout the day Saturday, community residents and visitors from outside the area, flocked to a series of entertainments and contests.

Games were under the direction of Mildred and Katherine Eickhoff and Joan Sloan. Mrs. Ed Lewis supervised women's games and a pet show with prizes awarded for "best trick" in each class was held during the afternoon.

Mrs. John Franks, Pocono Pines was crowned "Queen" of the mountain horseshoe pitchers in a close play-off with Mrs. Elida Wildrick, Blakeslee.

A woman's buck-sawing contest was won by Mrs. Mable Franks of Pocono Pines who sawed through a five-inch white pine log in 27 seconds. Heartiest round of applause went to 72-year-old Mrs. Emma Wildrick, Blakeslee, last year's runner-up in the contest, who placed third this year.

Mrs. Wildrick and Mrs. Amzi Noll gave a cross-cut sawing demonstration.

"King" of the horseshoe pitchers was George Wilson, Pocono Lake who beat out contest supervisor Arthur Dunlap, Pocono Pines, in a close race.

Men's cross-cut log-sawing was won by the team of Harrison Slutter, Pocono Lake and Walt Wildrick, Blakeslee, in 25 seconds.

Three "casting" contests were held. Winner of the first event, using "spinning" equipment, was Musician First Class Harvey Altomese, former community resident, now stationed with the Navy at Bainbridge, Md.

In the distance casting event with regular equipment, Richard Daley, Pocono Pines came in first. A competition to determine "accuracy" in casting was won by Richard Daley with Richard Shookner, New York City and M/IC Altomese runners-up.

Shookner's three children—Peter, Robert and Malcolm — were the only contestants in a children's casting division. A "tie" was declared.

Biggest single point of interest was centered around the "greased pig" ring in which contestants were asked to catch an eight-week-old pig with prizes awarded on the basis of speed.

James Keiper, Pocono Pines and Clinton Simpson, Pocono Lake tied for first place, each scoring a "catch" in nine seconds. In a second "run-off", Keiper won the pig.

Other features of the fair were an archery demonstration by the Weatherby Archery Club using Natela Spragle, Stroudsburg RD2; Susan Sommers, Mountainhome; Clarence Henry, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Dorothy Post, Stroudsburg RD3; Mrs. Mary Trewin, East Bangor; Maurice Jacobs, Baltimore, Md.; Valeria Price, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Helen Knight and daughter, Canadensis; Mrs. Dorothy Counterman and daughter, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Jean Jennings and son, Water Gap; Rita Schrader, Water Gap; William Berry, Philadelphia; Herbert Mann, Delaware, N. J.

St. Laurent Is Expected To Win Today

Ottawa, Ont., (AP) — The Liberal party confidently puts its case before Canada's voters in a national election today.

There is an air of resignation in the opposition camps. Evidently only the most optimistic of their campaign workers see a chance that the Liberals will lose the control they have held 18 years.

About 8½ million voters will have their say on whether to continue the government headed by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The main opposition party, the Progressive Conservatives, campaigned under the national leadership of the same man who led it to a crippling defeat in 1949 elections.

Boys Injured In Collision With Trailer

Mount Pocono — Two boys were injured when the car in which they were riding rammed the rear of a north-bound tractor-trailer at 10:15 p.m. Saturday near here.

The accident occurred a half mile south of the borough on Route 611, said Trooper James M. Horan. Jerry Preschutti, 9, Pockville, was passenger with a friend, John Kar-daish, 13, Pockville. At the wheel was Jerry's father, Lando Preschutti, police said.

Preschutti told police later he fell asleep at the wheel. The sedan struck the left rear of a tractor-trailer operated by Joseph W. Stebbins, 51, Vincentown, N. J.

The front of the car was damaged extensively, police said, but the trailer was unscathed.

The boys received first aid at the scene, then were taken to Scranton State Hospital in the Pocono Lake Volunteer Ambulance. Both were admitted for treatment.

Two Seriously Injured In Motorcycle-Car Crash On Rt. 611 Near Slateford

Portland — Two young men were injured seriously when their motorcycle crashed into the side of a car at Cox's Bear Stop on Route 611 last night.

They were Edward Eickhoff, 21, Portland, who was driving the motorcycle; and Donald Gearhart, 17, who was riding on the "buddy-seat."

Portland Police Chief Jessie Felker said a nurse who was passing in her car at the time stopped and gave first aid.

She said it appeared that both had suffered compound left leg fractures and possible internal injuries. Eickhoff was complaining of severe pain in the stomach region.

Rain was falling at 7:15 p.m. when the motorcycle, moving north in a line of traffic, veered across the road and into the left side and rear of a car operated by Alfred Coleman, Lambertville, N. J., who was moving south, Felker said.

The two young men lay in the pelting rain awaiting the ambulance. Dr. Howard Ott, Portland, arrived at the scene and gave first aid until the ambulance arrived.

The two youths were taken to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, where they underwent treatment for a number of hours, according to hospital authorities.

The hospital released no information on condition of the two.

Felker said the boys were traveling toward Delaware Water Gap to visit Gearhart's mother, when the accident occurred.

Three Cars Are Damaged On W. Main St.

Damages of $160 resulted when a three-car collision occurred in a line of east-bound traffic on W. Main St., Stroudsburg, at 1:35 p.m. yesterday.

In the first car was John J. Horvath, 57, Palmerton. Driving behind him was Herbert L. Hall, 47, Pittsburgh, Pa. Last car was operated by a soldier, Calvin B. Young, Saylorsburg, according to Stroudsburg Borough police.

Horvath braked his car in the 1100 block. The two cars in rear failed to stop in time or the wet paving, police said.

Damages were $10 to Horvath's rear bumper; $30 to Hall's rear trunk and bumper; and $300 to the front end of the Young car, police estimated. There were no injuries.

No Truce On Highways

The truce on the battlefields of Korea will save thousands of American lives. For that we are everlastingly grateful. Now if we could just strike a truce on America's highways, more thousands destined to die because of carelessness might also be saved.

The casualty toll in the Korean action was 141,000, including 25,000 killed. That was over a three-year period. In one year, 1952, automobile accidents in this country killed more than 38,000, and injured more than a million persons.

Figures released by the National Safety Council in its statistical yearbook show that 96,000 Americans lost their lives in 1952 from accidents of various kinds. Deaths occurred at the rate of one every five minutes.

We abhor war and the frightful toll of lives it takes. And we should. But we should also abhor the frightful toll taken by accidents. And while we may indeed abhor it, we have a shabby way of showing it. People daily risk their lives by disobeying the rules of safety and the rules of courtesy.

There is no hope of a full truce on the highways. There will be deaths and injuries just as long as people refuse to take the adequate safety measures that will save them and others, often innocent victims, on the highways. The only hope of real peace on the highways is full responsibility by every driver and thorough enforcement of the law.

Unexpected News

The published report that the American Car and Foundry Company has refunded to the Ordnance Department more than $22 million dollars which had been saved from original estimates on the cost of building military vehicles is a turn-around of gigantic proportions.

That the public trough is usually dipped into for one reason and another until even the takers must get tired is sometimes an accepted but unwelcome fact, but when news of such a refund as was made by this Pennsylvania company is announced, it is like a fresh wind blowing away a sultry storm.

Given the credit for this large voluntary refund is increased productivity, efficiency, improved production methods and faster construction methods.

While the name which will get the publicity is that of the company involved, those who will share this credit are the men in the several sections of the plant whose co-ordinated efforts made such a saving possible.

Any savings that can be made in Federal expenditures will aid those who are determined to bring back sanity in government and reduced taxes to all of the public.

To the American Car and Foundry men we say "well done," and hope that other examples of Americanism such as theirs are forthcoming.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

The Saratoga Season

This is the season at Saratoga, the cradle of American horsemanship.

Up there in the hills of colonial battles, gambling, investigations, mineral water, promotions and high August rentals, racing takes on a mood of dignity, leisure and "upper brackets."

The open shirt and hairy chest go into a moderate fade-out, the cry of "Hey, Butch, old Stinky say they're trying today!" is less general and the people who look at a thoroughbred horse with the cold, hard eye of bandits sizing up the prospects for a financial killing seem fewer.

At Saratoga, where it is not hard to picture the ghosts of Lillian Russell, Commodore Fish, General Grant, Bet-A-Million Gates, the Mizners and the early American crop of Vanderbilts, Keenleys, Harrimans and Goulds moving among the stately elms, it seems a pleasure to lose money, since you are running out of dough with the best people.

There is something in the very tradition of Saratoga that makes a horse player strive to get culture into a squawk over a photo finish. "If you gotta bet, a ham, beef like a gentleman," we heard a fat guy bellow the other day, expressing the keynote of Saratoga behavior. Even the horses are harder to approach. There are racing tipsters who admit you to their circle "by card only" and here is one of the few tracks in the world where a racing sheet can be studied through a luncheonette without arousing comment. The Stevens Brothers serve a breakfast during the morning workouts, Frank wearing the lawn spats and Joe showing up in the habits of a leader of the Upper Chestnut-Thames fox-hunting set. Jockeys wear the art of lads on a slugging trip as they regard the rank and file. "The men in the $2 motels, windows show no five-o'clock shadow. An Saratoga."

We miss the old Grand Union with its mile-long verandas, open plumbing and coil of rope in each room in case of fire; slow elevators, fast planters' punches and dazzling chandeliers. (The latter are now in a wayside inn in Cheshire, Connecticut.) A chain grocery is replacing the old hotel and it is saddening to think of a housewife haggling over the price of a head of cabbage on the spot where Lillian Russell once slept.

Here a taste of canned goods where the tinle of string instruments long flooded on the air.

Note such inquiries as "Where do you keep the cheese?" and "How much for the chicken liver?" where for many years the conversation centered on beautiful women, fine wines and fast horses.

Something goes out of Saratoga life the day you see a chain-store manager wrestling with the day's figures in the very place where so many notables lightly went over the handiwork figures.

President Peron of the Argentine fell off a motorcycle and was banged up quite a bit the other day. . . . The motorcycle industry will suffer for this, huh. . . . "Velvet" and "Card Trick" won races at Saratoga this week, the names sounding especially appropriate for the mood at the Spa. . . . A skinner named "Me" also won, and paid $44.20. . . . We were thrown off because of a confusing dialogue with our Saratoga tout.

"What's good?" we asked. "Me" he replied. . . . "Anything hot in this race?" we repeated. "You heard me," Me, he repeated. . . . (We thought it was the heat and walked away.) Mrs. Perle Mesta, we saw, is back in Moscow after being shown around the Caucasian oil fields and issuing a statement declaring them wonderful. . . . What goes between Perle and the Kremlin, that the hostess with the mostest on the hall is getting such special treatment? . . . The country has a right to know the name of the cocktail that can work wonders like that, lady. . . . A black Minnow hen in West Haverstraw, N. Y., had set a world record, laying twenty-nine double-yolk eggs and two triple-yolkers in 33 days. . . . There's a hen that may have taken a pep talk too seriously. . . . In an era of smoothies, slickers and fence straddlers, Bob Taft, buried with high honors this week, stood out by contrast like a beacon on a foggy road. . . . Few are the political figures who put integrity above all vote-getting angles, and you don't need more than two phone booths to house the politicians of America who don't function with an eye on the voting booth. . . . What made Taft a standout was that he was never the artful dodger, the fence-straddler, the "no comment" boy or the fellow who put applause above his own conscience.

We miss the old Grand Union with its mile-long verandas, open plumbing and coil of rope in each room in case of fire; slow elevators, fast planters' punches and dazzling chandeliers. (The latter are now in a wayside inn in Cheshire, Connecticut.) A chain grocery is replacing the old hotel

A WORD FROM THE NEW SPONSOR

Robert S. Allen Reports

Further Cuts Are Ordered By Administration For Military

Washington — The Administration is wasting no time in making careful use of the adjournment of Congress.

Free to exercise full executive control for the first time since taking office, the Administration is enthusiastically proceeding to do that by slashing $750,000,000 from the already drastically pruned military budget.

The new saving is in addition to the multi-billion dollar cuts the Administration forced through the recent session of Congress.

Most of this latest economizing will come out of huge sums that previous Congresses, as far back as 1950, granted the three armed services for construction projects in the U. S. and abroad. Of the more than $10,000,000,000 originally voted for this purpose, $2,738,441,171 remains unspent. That's where the heavy taxing is being done.

From that balance, Defense Secretary Charles Wilson is lopping off $757,448,725.

The Air Force will be the hardest hit, as it was during the recent budget battle. Again, the Air arm will lose more than the other two services combined, as follows:

|              |               |
|--------------|---------------|
| Air Force    | $401,426,000 |
| Air Materiel | $271,430,500 |
| Navy         | $84,592,225  |

Scores of construction projects will be cancelled under the new economy plan. Some of them involve atomic and other secret weapon facilities. It is not possible to divulge their nature or location, but they are on Wilson's list.

The Details — This is admitted by Deputy Defense Secretary Royce Kyles in an unpublished letter he sent the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The former General Motors vice-president wrote this revealing communication in reply to sharp queries from committee men being bombarded with angry complaints from constituents facing the loss of jobs and business because of the cancelled projects. Publishable highlights of Kyles' explanation are as follows:

"It is therefore possible that authorization for certain projects can now be eliminated or reduced in scope, because of changes in the mission of individual installations as well as adjustments in overall planning following revision in the composition of the armed forces and their authorized strength. . . . The Defense Department, therefore, finds that projects, and portions of projects, totaling $757,448,750 are no longer essential for the national defense, and accordingly, are available for rescission."

Among the projects listed by Kyles for axing are:

Rauchenberger, Hoffner Nuptials Held In Church

Christ Church, Hamilton Square, was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, Aug. 1, at 2:30 p. m. when Miss Patricia Hoffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffner, of Stroudsburg, RD1, became the bride of Alden Rauchenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rauchenberger.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. John Bergstresser. The organist was Mrs. Jacob Hartman and the soloist was Mrs. Grant Knowles who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballet length skirt of Chantilly lace with satin bodice over stiff net and satin underskirt. She wore a pearl tiara with a fingertip veil of tulle. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and satin streamers of baby breath. She later used the white orchid for a corsage.

Miss Gladys Hoffner was her sister's maid-of-honor and wore a white organza dress over a blue broadcloth slip with hat and shoes to match. She carried yellow rosbuds tied with yellow satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Greener and Miss Peggy Gearhart. They wore white organza dresses over pale blue broadcloth slips and hats and shoes to match. They carried bouquets of pink rosbuds tied with pink satin ribbon.

Lenore Hoffner, another sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white organza redingote over a pale blue slip and hat and shoes to match. She carried a basket of pompons and baby breath.

The best man was Robert Hoffner, a brother of the bride. The ushers were Buddy Dawson and George Lutz, of East Stroudsburg.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue nylon pleated dress with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a summer print silk dress, also with white accessories. They both wore white orchid corsages.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride for 150 guests. A wedding cake centered the bride's table which was decorated with white gladioli.

Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Rauchenberger left for a three-week honeymoon trip to Florida points. On their return, they will be at home to relatives and friends on Chip-Perfield Drive.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The thing about weather is that it's seldom as disagreeable as it looks from the inside. Certainly the weekend wasn't one you'd have chosen if you had your druthers.

But we went to the river anyway, and really it was rather pleasant. For one thing the weather had discouraged the Sunday drivers among the speedboat set so that traffic on the river was quieter—mostly plodding motor boats with family groups.

And for another the rain held off till our outdoor dinner was safely out of the way, and even then you could see the raindrops dimpling the river long before it filtered through the trees.

And even coming down the river the rain fell softly and was rather refreshing. Actually, weather is good or bad depending on the clothes you're wearing. I've concluded.

Rain on a new hat and your best shoes can be sort of disastrous. But in old clothes and with a big umbrella it hardly matters at all.

And a Sunday evening with the rain falling outside is quite cozy. However, there are a lot of outdoor activities scheduled for this week, so maybe that's enough for now.

Long Flight Fetherman Descendant

One of the descendants flew a distance of 850 miles to attend the 36th annual Fetherman-Fetherman family reunion at Weona Park, Pen Argyl, yesterday, it was announced last night.

There were 75 members of the families who defied rain and inclement conditions furnished by the weather man for the annual gathering which proved successful in every respect, officers said.

The day's program opened with the dinner at noon at which time a moment of silence was observed in honor of the memory of the late Norman Fetherman, of Stroudsburg, the family historian. Prayer was offered by the president, Fred Fetherman, of Stroudsburg.

All the officers were reelected for the 1954 reunion as follows: President, Fred Fetherman, of Stroudsburg; first vice president, Carroll Fetherman, New Foundland; second vice president, Clyde Fetherman, Germantown; secretary, Floyd Fetherman, Stroudsburg; treasurer, Mrs. Blanche Ackerman, Bethlehem; historian, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Norman Fetherman, Mrs. Mary Sox, Stroudsburg.

It was decided to hold the 1954 gathering of the family at the same place as yesterday the second Sunday in August.

Games followed the business session and prizes were awarded. Mrs. Harry R. Roberts, of Hereford, Berks County, was rewarded as the oldest woman in attendance, while the oldest man was Edwin Berger, Bethlehem.

The youngest child was James Koch, aged 2½ months, of 1040 Second Ave., Hellertown. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts also took the prize for having been married the longest time. The attendance prize went to Mrs. Grace Fetherman, 1104 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg.

Allen Kemmerer, of Hapeville, Ga., had the record of traveling the longest distance to attend the reunion. He made the trip by air plane covering a distance of 850 miles. He was to leave later for Cleveland, O., also by plane.

The day's program came to a close with a picnic supper, with many participating despite discouraging conditions.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. George "Hinky" Hughes, N. Ninth St., were visited the past week by the latter's brother, Ralph Marryott and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodall, of Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Frankenhoff and daughter, Miss Mary Frances, of Morningside Ave., left at the weekend on a motor trip to the New England states. They expect to be absent a week or ten days.

Karen Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco English, of Forty Fort, was one year old on Saturday. They were weekend guests of Mrs. English's mother, Mrs. John Papson and her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Mosteller, W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Ruth and Dorothy Simpson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Simpson, Swiftwater, are enjoying a week's visit at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and family of Scranton.

Mrs. Edwin Miller Sr., who operates the Miller Home For the Aged, Delaware Water Gap, is able to be around following a spell of illness.

James Earl Kintner and wife of Phoenix, Ariz., have left for home following a visit of a week with the former's mother, Mrs. Flora Kintner, Lackawanna Trail.

Cherry Valley Women's Group Change Plans

The Cherry Valley Women's Society of the Methodist Church will meet in the church basement Thursday, Aug. 13, at noon. It was originally announced a picnic supper would be held, but Mrs. Siphroth reported that it had been changed back to the regular noon dinner meeting.

The business meeting will get under way at 2 p. m. There will be submitted a financial report on the recent variety show and basement plans will also be discussed.

Mrs. Kint Grunke, Mrs. Otto Christ and Mrs. Marianne Schmidt will be the hostesses for the dinner. Friends as well as members are invited to attend.

SPCA Meeting

The executive board of the Monroe County SPCA will meet in regular monthly session Tuesday, Aug. 11, at 7 p. m. in the council chamber, second floor, Stroudsburg Municipal building.

Floyd Starner Reelected President Of Family Reunion

The annual Starner family reunion, held at the East Stroudsburg playground yesterday afternoon was well attended despite the inclement weather conditions. Games were played, prizes awarded and the officers re-elected for the coming year.

Dinner was served under the pavilion grace having been pronounced by Mrs. Floesia Stiff, of Stroudsburg.

The dinner was followed by games when musical chairs were participated in by many children. Winners in the 2 to 4 year class were Jacklyn Starner, Tannersville, and Karen Starner, Yardley; 4 to 6 years, David LaBar, Bangor, and Linda Starner, Tannersville; 6 to 8 years, Bonnie Rank, Allentown, and Freddie LaBar, Bangor.

The boys' balloon blowing contest was won by Alfred LaBar, Bangor, while Andrea Farris, East Stroudsburg, won for the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Miller, East Stroudsburg, were winners in the bag race for men and women, respectively. The honeymoon race went to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Starner, Stroudsburg.

The prize for being the oldest person in attendance was awarded Mrs. Grace Starner, East Stroudsburg. The youngest person was Cynthia Ann Evans, 10 days old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Martz, Norfolk, Va., received the prize for having travelled the longest distance to the reunion. Marie Starner won the guess cake.

The business meeting was held following the games with Floyd Starner, Canadensis, the president, in charge. All the officers were re-elected as follows: President, Mr. Starner; vice president, Horace Stiff, Stroudsburg; secretary and historian, Mrs. Charles E. DePue, Mount Pocono, and treasurer, Mrs. Edith Treible, East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Layton Treible, East Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Georgia Albertson, Stroudsburg, were

4-H Clubbers Do Sewing, Hear Of Recent Picnic

The Snyder'sville 4-H Club enjoyed a picnic at East Stroudsburg playground on Wednesday, July 29 at which time they enjoyed refreshments and also engaged in swimming.

Nancy Spencer opened their Aug. 5 meeting and Linda Kresge spoke of the picnic for the benefit of those unable to attend. Plans were discussed for making puppets.

A card was received from Miss Margaret McLaren, their director, who is taking a special course of study in Colorado. The balance of the time was devoted to sewing on dresses and skirts they are making. Refreshments were served by Rosemary Schuler.

Dr. L'Amoreaux Is Approaching Century Mark

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Boyd, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, are leaving today for their home after a week's stay in the community visiting many friends.

Mrs. Boyd is the former Miss Margaret L'Amoreaux, daughter of Dr. S. W. L'Amoreaux, who for many years resided in the dwelling, the present Town Tavern, where he practiced his profession.

Dr. L'Amoreaux is residing in New York City and will be 100 years of age coming January. Despite his age he is able to make visits with his two daughters, Mrs. Boyd in Chestnut Hill and Angelica, wife of Howard Bacon, of Providence, R. I.

The Boyds have a daughter and four grandchildren and the Bacon two sons.

Fall Fashions To Reward Thin Girls

By Dorothy Ross

Associated Press Fashion Editor. Girls who have "chewed to the bone" let the hips fall where they may" are going to be out of luck when they start trying on the new fall fashion.

Last year they could hide the extra pounds under full skirts and petticoats, but those days are gone forever—or at least for the next season.

Sheath dresses, slim skirts, tight middie offer due rewards for thin girls this season. Current previews of fall fashions cleave to the straight, slim silhouette for daytime, present softer lines only in dresses for wear after dark.

The costume is high in importance for fall, proving the U. S. woman's favorite outfit, since it permits her to go through a day and an evening of varied activities without changing clothes—removing her jacket is all the preparation she needs to be dressed for festivities of the evening.

Suits have almost uniformly straight skirts, but jackets vary from the short boxy variety to longer belted tunics and even full-length coats. Some are fitted, some loose, some wraparound.

Evening clothes attain a new formality this season, with the floor-length evening gown back in full force, presaging a season of elegance.

Fabrics are handsome and varied, with polished wools in the forefront, featherweight tweeds and worsteds in high favor for suits, wool jersey all over the place in clothes for every occasion.

Teen-Agers Meet Thursday Night At Echo Lake

The Teen Age Republican Club will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Holiday House, Echo Lake. It was announced last night.

John Eaton, the president, will be in charge of the meeting when there will be business and social time on the agenda.

The program will include presentation of skits and musical numbers and there will also be dancing.

Refreshments will be served by Patricia Burnley, Marion Scott and Patricia Lutz. Every teen ager in the county is urged to participate in the meeting.

West End Legion Aux. Meets Today

Plan Bazaar With Many Attractions

Swiftwater. There was a splendid attendance of the Women's Society of Christian Service when they gathered at the Methodist Hall on Wednesday night for their monthly meeting.

The ladies inspected the new sink in the basement kitchen which has been installed by Ralph May. Other improvements during the coming months are hoped for, it was stated.

The time was spent largely in making final plans for the annual bazaar which will be held, rain or shine, on August 13. This year a hot baked ham platter will be served from 4:30 until all are served. Also there will be hot dogs and sauerkraut, cake, pie, and ice cream, as well as sodas, "Swiftwater Punch," home-made jelly and candy for sale on the grounds.

All kinds of needlework, including many aprons and a great variety of fancy goods may be had at very reasonable prices. A white elephant table and grab bags for the children, and the popular parcel post sale will be well stocked, the committee says.

The Pocono Pioneer Band, of Stroudsburg, will begin their concert at 8 p. m. and the public is invited to attend and enjoy the music, as well as take part in the cake walks—a new feature this year.

Mrs. Nellie Widdoss, the vice president, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Lillian Hamilton led the devotional period. A vote of thanks went to the men who have given much of their time and effort in the water project at the church.

Those who can help clean the hall are asked to meet there on Tuesday at 2 p. m. The meeting adjourned at a late hour, after all business was completed.

Wyckoff's has many traditions . . . and one, cherished most intensely by all of the employees, is that of being a family. We not only live our daily lives together, but we work together and share many a laugh. Yesterday we worshipped together.

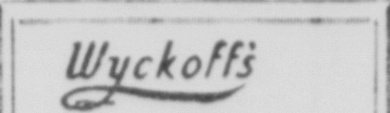

For more years than many can remember, the annual worship service at the Human Memorial Church has been one of the store's most respected customs, and one very near to the heart of Mr. Wyckoff himself. After my visit yesterday, I can understand why. There is, of course, the beauty of the little stone chapel itself . . . the serenity of the surrounding woods . . . the organ's stirring call to worship . . . the simple, but stately words of Scripture.

On this one particular day each year, we see our co-workers in a way that is somewhat strange to us. The simple office frocks are replaced by Sunday dresses, and there is the added formality of hats; the overalls of the service men are replaced with Sunday-best suits. The chatter and laughter, so much a part of our everyday suits, are replaced by dignified good mornings and more subdued smiles. Yet, in the hour of worship, we are drawn closer together perhaps than we have ever been during the hours shared at the typewriter, counter, or service desk.

"If you were to look into your innermost heart today—deep down into the most secret part of your heart—what would you answer when I ask you what it is that you desire most in all the world?" That was the question put to us by the beloved Dr. William Ford, who has addressed Wyckoff employees these many years. And, searching our hearts, each of us answered privately the query of this respected gentleman of 84, who has been so crafts in the service of God. Perhaps none of us answered in identical vein . . . but I think all of us, as we looked around at the others who are part of our store family, were wishing that we might go on together for many years to come. We were echoing Dr. Ford's thoughts, I'm sure, when he expressed the hope that we would all be back again next August.

As we left the church and stood in well-dressed groups waiting for the many cars that would carry us on to dinner, I'm sure more than one of us meditated about what a blessing it is to live, and work, and thrive in this country of ours, where employer and employee meet as friends, engaged in a respectable endeavor for the good of all. I remember thinking how splendid it is that we were free to worship, and that it had been possible to pray and sing together. Surely it is important to take God into our workaday world with us, and not allow our relationship with Him to become a mere one day event of each week.

Looking back upon it, I wanted to share these things with you . . . the Human side of the news, from Wyckoff's.

Modern Device Is Economy Achievement

Why pay the cost of heating (or cooling) seven rooms to keep two rooms comfortable?

This question illustrates a common heating and cooling problem. Heller's Refrigeration, 123 Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg, has the answer in its new Penn-Air-Rad unit. For the first time you can have zone control heating (or hot water systems) with forced air summer cooling.

Mr. Heller points out the new Penn-Air-Rad unit does for home heating what the jet does for flying. In the average home only two rooms—the livingroom and the bathroom—require temperatures in the 70's between the hours of 7:30 and 11 p.m. Other rooms need only enough heat to "take the chill off" in order to maintain economy levels.

But ordinary radiators offer so little control of temperature... bring up heat so slowly when required... that nine out of 10 must waste fuel overheating unoccupied rooms in order to be comfortable in the room occupied. Air-rad saves this waste fuel... soon pay for themselves! They have a well-designed, clean-like appearance, fit snugly in the wall without robbing previous room space and harmonize with any decor.

Harry Heller, owner-operator of Heller's Refrigeration, points out the Penn-Air-Rad is no more like ordinary radiators than today's jets are like 1919 biplanes. Yet Air-rad is just home sense applied to home heating. The basic principle is as simple as this:

You fully heat only occupied rooms in cold weather. You cool only occupied rooms in hot weather. You save chunks of hard cash—because you don't waste fuel or electricity overheating or cooling rooms that aren't in use.

Porous Masonry Can Be Treated
What can you do about porous masonry wall surfaces?
A visit to the Paint Service Center, "the progressive store for color, style and service," will gain you a quick answer as well as a solution to the problem.

Paint Service Center points out your porous masonry walls are no longer a moisture problem with Bondex heavy duty sealer. Now you can seal water out of porous masonry wall surfaces such as cinder block, concrete block, rough block and rough poured concrete. You will be "worry-free" of moisture problems inside and out, above and below grade.

Scrap Metals Must Be Sorted By Dealers

This is the second in a series of articles by D. Katz & Sons, Inc., on the background and operation of the scrap business.

After accumulating a vast tonnage of scrap iron which has come into our yards by truckers of so-called pick-up men, large tonnages from industrial and governmental agencies, which have come in via rail, we now have a heterogeneous mass which must be sorted and segregated into many different classifications.

The Department of Commerce had set up 75 different categories in which scrap iron can be placed. It is the duty of the dealer to properly sort and segregate this mass into the categories that they have set up. Since World War Two the scrap industry has adopted this set of specifications as a rule of standardization.

In this pile we may find light sheet iron, pieces of cast iron, out-moded machinery, containers, pipe, automobile parts, industrial scrap generated from railroads, shipyards, agricultural areas and industrial plants. It may come from a residential home or the demolition of a building. All of this material must now be sorted and separated into the various grades and classifications required by steel mills, foundries and other users.

Before unprepared material can be properly segregated, it is necessary to know how to identify the various types of ferrous metals. Much of the material entering the scrap yard may be entirely worthless and on the other hand many items may command a premium.

The bulk of all steel produced in this country is mild carbon steel. Almost all structural shapes, plates... except Navy ship-plates, steam locomotives, automotive bodies, and agricultural equipment are made of this type of steel. Mild steel is soft, can be bent, punched, and machined, sheared by torches without difficulty.

Rain Curtails Stock Car Feature Event At Stroudsburg Speedway; Big Race Next Week

Rain and a slippery track curtailed the stock car racing program at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday night, as a near capacity crowd watched approximately 45 cars in action on the half-mile oval.

The field of 22 main event drivers had completed three laps, all of which were run through a light rain, when a four car accident made it necessary to restart. Before the race could be resumed officials of the Liberty Stock Car Association and many of the drivers decided that the track was entirely too wet to continue racing.

Russ Delp, Reading, was leading at the time of postponement. Officials announced that next week's main event would be 50 laps, in an effort to make up for Saturday's postponement. There will also be three qualifying heats and a consolation race next week.

"Blackie" Reider, the hottest driver in stock car circle at the present time, was the first qualifier. The Reading driver paced "Buddy" Burgstesser, Phillipsburg, N. J.; Chet Fehr, Easton; Lew Hann, Phillipsburg, N. J., and Ed Farley, Easton, to the finish line in that order.

Joe Bushlitz, Bethlehem, won the second qualifying heat, with Jim Henninger, Milford, N. J.; Joe Reifinger, Easton; Stan Metz, Easton, and Irv Blatt, Hamburg, Pa., rounding out the first five in that rotation.

The third heat was won by Fred Fehr, Easton, while Ken Wismer, Easton, came home second ahead of Dave Rapp, Easton; Delp, and Otto Harvi, Easton, who finished third, fourth and fifth respectively.

Consolation honors went to Jack Burgstesser, Easton, while Harry Charles, Easton, placed second; Joe Cryan, Oxford, N. J., third, and Howard Bullman, Washington, N. J., fourth.

Senators Earn Even Break With Browns

Washington, D. C. — Washington blasted three St. Louis pitchers for 13 hits and a 12-3 victory in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday after the Browns captured the opener 3-0.

Wayne Tedwiler, with a triple, double and single, and Jackie Jensen, who batted in four runs with three singles, led the Senators' assault in the second game. The Senators shelled Bob Cain with a five-run outburst in the first inning and continued their attack on Martin Stuart and Lou Kretlow to give "Chuck" Stobbs a seventh win.

Paige Wins
"Satchel" Paige, who replaced Duane Pillette in the eighth inning, won the first game, Johnny Schmitz owned a five-hit shutout with one out in the ninth, when three straight singles and two errors by Schmitz permitted the Browns to score all their runs.

Red Sox Bow Despite Homer By Williams

By "Bud" Weeks
Boston, (AP) — Cleveland's Mike Garcia gave up a pinch home run to Ted Williams but coasted to his 14th victory against Boston yesterday 9-3 as the Indians slammed 14 hits, including homers by Bobby Avila, Joe Tipton and Bob Kennedy.

Williams thrilled the Fenway Park crowd of 26,966 by drilling a 3-4 pitch 400 feet into the right centerfield seats to cap a three-run Boston rally in the seventh inning. The bases were empty.

It was the second pinch-hit try for the lanky slugger since he swapped his Marine jet pilot togs for baseball flannels. He popped up against Martin Stuart of St. Louis last week.

Williams' home run brought a standing three-minute ovation from the crowd.

But that was about all Red Sox followers had to cheer about as the Indians snapped a four-game losing streak.

Lefty Maury McDermott, who had defeated Cleveland three times in a row and allowed the Indians only one run in his last 29 and two-thirds innings, was behind 3-0 when removed in the second inning.

Muncie Boy Wins In Derby

Akron, Ohio, (AP) — A 14-year-old 95-pound youngster who two years ago had a thyroid condition from which physicians feared the would not recover, yesterday won the 16th All-American Soap Box Derby and a $5,000 four-year college scholarship.

The kid is Freddy Mohler of Muncie, Ind., son of a school custodian. Freddy, a 9B student at Wilson Junior High school, will use the scholarship to study industrial arts.

Mohler defeated Dale and Jon King, Los Angeles, Calif., brothers, in the deciding heat down the 975.4-foot Derby Downs Raceway before some 40,000 spectators. Dale, 15, finished second and won a $4,000 scholarship, while Jon, 12, was third for a $3,000 college fund.

Another Los Angeles youth, 15-year-old Ronald Ford, was fourth for $2,000, and William Thayer, 15, of Detroit, finished fifth for $1,000. Larry Fuhrer, of Baltimore, another 15-year-old, was sixth and won a motion picture camera and projector.

There was no doubt of young Mohler's superiority. Each of his five heats were raced under 28 seconds into the teeth of a 20-mile wind over a rubber-surfaced track swept by occasional rains.

None of the other boy-manufactured cars could reach the 28 second time, but Mohler did it each trip.

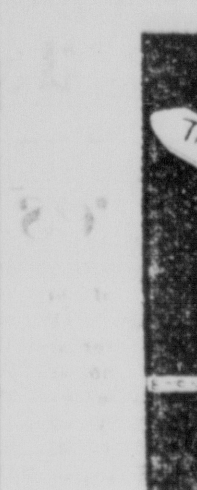

Three Pennsylvania boys advanced to the quarterfinal round of the Soap Box Derby before they were eliminated.

Thomas Koes of Scranton, Fred Knight of Williamsport and Paul Maurer of Pottsville made the best showing each winning two heats before being eliminated.

Pierce Blanks Yankees On Three Safeties As White Sox Salvage Final Game Of Major Series

New York, (AP)—St. Louis' Billy Pierce, who almost missed his turn because of a "stiff arm," salvaged the final game of the big four-game series for Chicago yesterday by shutting out the New York Yankees 5-0 with three hits. The victory left the White Sox seven games behind the Yankees in the American League race.

The slender left-hander, winning his 15th and fifth shutout, allowed only one hit—a leadoff double by Billy Martin in the third—until "Tank" Bauer opened the seventh with a single. CH McLaughlin's single to start the ninth was the other hit. He struck out eight for a season total of 127, tops in both majors. Billy has a string of 24 and two-thirds scoreless innings.

Vic Raschi, who blanked Pierce in the second half of a July 19 doubleheader at Comiskey Park, was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning. Furthermore, the pitcher who set a record by driving in seven runs against Detroit Tuesday night, struck out the only one he faced Pierce.

Bob Boyd, filling in for the injured Ferris Fain, smashed Raschi's first pitch into the lower leftfield seats for his first major league home run. The rookie Negro first baseman, recalled from Toronto a week ago, ruined Bob Kuzava's no-hit bid in Saturday's second game with a ninth-inning double. He followed up the homer with two singles, scoring twice and driving in two runs.

Chicago added its second run in the fourth inning on a walk to Nellie Fox, followed by Minnie Minoso's double off the left-field fence.

Raschi was chased in the sixth when four hits, including a double, and an error added up to two more runs. Steve Kraly, the lefty with a 19-3 record before he was brought up from the Englewood, N. Y. farm in the class "A" Eastern League, gave up the final run in the seventh. Chicago 5-0 100 102 100-2 10 1 New York 0 00 000-0 3 1

West End A. C. Falls Before Bushkill, 6-3

Gilbert Billy Sommers pitched Bushkill to a four-hit 6-3 Pocono Mountains League baseball victory over West End A. C. here on the latter's home field yesterday.

Sommers and Bob Burkett tangled in a scoreless battle for two frames, then Bushkill went into the lead by scoring once in the third and twice in the fifth stanza.

Both clubs picked up three tallies in the eighth and Bushkill coasted through the ninth for the victory.

Barrett Little Bigger Club Rallies To Nip Boiler Works

Canadensis - Barrett dropped International Boiler Works into a first place tie with Monroe Silk here on Saturday by dumping IBW by an 18-7 count, in one of the wildest Little Big League of the Stroudsburg baseball games played this season.

Kunkletown Takes Measure Of Barrett

Canadensis - Kunkletown kept its pennant hopes alive in the Pocono Mountains League yesterday by turning in a 6-2 baseball victory over Barrett, here on the losing club's home field.

The game was delayed at one point for 20 minutes by rain.

Kunkletown scored its first four runs at a time off Lamar Price, but put the contest on ice with a two-run outburst in the ninth and final frame.

Cards Clip Giants, 6-2

St. Louis (AP) - The St. Louis Cardinals, facing the pitching of rookie Al Worthington for the first time, were held to one hit for three innings, then opened up for a 6-2 victory over the New York Giants yesterday and a sweep of their three-game series.

It was the fourth straight setback for the young right-hander who opened his major league career with a rush, pitching shutout victories in his first two starts to set a record.

The victory moved the Cards six and one-half games ahead of the Giants, who fell deeper into the second division.

A's Triumph Over Tigers

Philadelphia (AP) - The Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers battled to a 10-inning 8-8 standoff in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday after the A's won the first game in 10 innings, 4-3.

The second game was halted by the Pennsylvania curfew law which states that no inning can be started after 6:50 p.m. (EDT). The game must be replayed from the start, Gus Zernial batted only twice in the doubleheader but hit a home run each time. In the first inning of the opener he cracked his 28th with a man aboard and in the 10th inning of the nightcap hit his 29th with the bases loaded to tie the game.

The Tigers looked like the second game winner, after losing the first three games of the series, when Jim Deising singled, went to third on catcher Johnny Bueha's single and scored as Bueha bowled over shortstop Joe DeMaestri, trying for a double play on Johnny Pesky's grounder.

Ronnie Back But the A's bounced back in their half of the 10th on singles by Loren Babe and Eddie Robinson and Cass Michaels' long fly.

That climaxed the nip-and-tuck battle which was highlighted by Bueha's long belt in the sixth inning off reliever Dick Herbert. That came after singles by Carmen Mauro, Eddie McGhee and a walk to catcher Neal Watlington. The exact date of replaying the game was not immediately fixed.

Frackville Wins Baseball Crown

Sunbury (AP) - Frackville, Schuylkill county, yesterday won the National Baseball Congress State tourney here by defeating Beavertown, Snyder County, 7-0.

The win gives Frackville the chance to go to Wichita, Kans., to compete for the NBC title in a playoff beginning August 14.

Frackville pitcher Bill Savitsky held Beavertown to seven hits, while his teammates collected their seven runs on nine hits and two Beavertown errors.

Little Joe Presko, who previously had lost three straight to the Giants, was the winner, giving up the only New York runs in the first and fourth as the result of wildness.

New York 100 100 000-2 5 2 St. Louis 000 030 218-6 8 1

Braves Sweep Pair From Bucs

Milwaukee (AP) - Andy Pafko poked a pair of home runs and Joe Adcock drove in four runs in the second game yesterday as Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 10-3 after winning the opener 7-4 to sweep the four-game series and trim a half game off Brooklyn's National League lead.

The Braves now trail by seven games. The double victory gave the Braves their first series' sweep since mid-June, when they took three straight from Philadelphia. Jim Wilson scattered eight hits in the second game as the Braves rallied three Pirate pitchers for 14, including Pafko's homers, his 11th and 12th, which landed in almost the same spot in front of the leftfield bleachers, some 400 feet out.

Adcock, hitless in the opener, drove in two runs with a first-inning single and two more with a double in the fifth as the Braves chased starter Elroy Face with a four-run uprising. They had scored another run off Face in the second and their final three came off reliever Bob Hall on Pafko's homers in the sixth and eighth.

The Pirates talked once in the fourth on three successive singles and twice more in the sixth when

Charles Back In Action

Check Of CIA Must Be Made With Prudence

—By James Burnham

Formosa, Guatemala, Korea, Berlin and Stalin's death, all suggest that the answer to these questions is lamentably negative.

Information is the commodity which one branch of CIA is hired to produce. If the workmanship is shoddy, then complaints are in order.

Is it true that tens of millions of dollars have been poured into half-baked projects that end up as complete flops? That lush contracts have been thrown to favored individuals and firms here and abroad? That CIA's "secret" cover organizations — many of them well known to every intelligence agent in the world — squander millions on fantastic administrative expenses, plush (and inappropriate) offices, high salaries for incompetent personnel?

Why did an agency created to understand and fight international Communism load its top staff with soft, leftist anti-anti-Communists, like Professor William Langer of Harvard, notorious spokesman of the New Deal version of modern history, Professor Sherman Kent of Yale, De Forest Van Slyke, a Lattimore defender, and world federal enthusiasts, Stuart Heddin?

And why have hundreds of loyal, able, mostly young and imaginative Americans left CIA, until ex-CIA members are now nearly as common as ex-Communists? Why is there not a single one of the nation's outstanding "hard" anti-Communists working for CIA?

In order to guard against the risk of CIA's becoming an American Gestapo, the law wisely prohibits CIA from operations on domestic territory. Has the prohibition been observed? Or is it true, as is widely believed, that CIA carries on vast domestic operations, many of them designed to influence domestic opinion, persons and affairs?

Last October a widely publicized scandal revealed that CIA had financed a West German guerrilla organization whose leaders (probably Soviet secret agents) had marked dozens of German socialists and liberals for assassination. How many other examples are there of that kind of incompetence?

The records of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee show that State Department official, John P. Davies, Jr., recommended a crew of Communists and fellow-travelers for a CIA secret operation. They further indicate that CIA made no complaint against Davies, but on the contrary got rid of those in its own ranks who denounced Davies.

Are there Communist agents in CIA? General Bedell Smith, then Director of CIA, admitted during the Presidential campaign, that there are. What is being done to get rid of them? Is the CIA atmosphere an easy one for Communists to breathe?

Recent investigations show that CIA's predecessor, the Office of Strategic Services, was shot through with Communists. CIA took over a large part of OSS's staff and methods. How much has been learned?

It is to be hoped that an investigation of CIA will be extremely prudent, and will guard against injury to the nation's security. But the cry of "security" should not be used as a bureaucratic screen to hide waste, incompetence, misdirection or subversion.

JEANNINE BOWMAN, 19, of Rome, New York, has good reason to smile. She has been selected to represent her state in the Miss America beauty pageant in Atlantic City, N. J.

In 1950, Scotland had one house for every 3 2/3 persons.
